BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 20.—Shortly before 8 o'clock this morning a special New York excursion train from Chicago, going East at the rate of thirty miles an hour, dashed head on into the Pacific Express going West on the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway, near the round-house, this city, causing the most horrible railroad accident of the year.

The trains were within a short distance when the engineers saw a terrible mistake had been made and that a most horrible catastrophe was inevitable.

Both engine crews shut off steam, reversed their engines and jumped from the cabs leaving the trains of human beings to rush unguided to destruction. Some yardmen stood near by paralyzed at the sight. A few moments elapsed and the great engines crashed into one another inextricably locking themselves in the grasp of wrecked machinery. For a few moments the hissing steam drowned all other sounds, while the clouds of white vapor shrouded the terrible picture from sight in the dim early light. Then from out the wreck came the shrieks of the injured many of whom were pinned in the crushed coaches. As the white vapors of the escaping steam raised from the wreck, the railroad men who stood by had but a moment's glance, when the flames from the scattered oil of the lamps burst out and spread over the heap of timbers, wheels, from which here and there in the horrible mound projected a bleeding corpse or a pined living victim uttering agonizing cries. The flames spread wider and wider over the debris, rapidly cutting off the unfortunate people from the help of the excited people who arrived. When the flames were extinguished and the wreck explored it was reported by the searchers that twenty-six passengers had been killed, but all but two of the bodies so badly crushed, disfigured and charred that they cannot be recognized, and fifty persons injured.

THE KILLED.

Twenty-five dead bodies are unidentified, as all their clothing and heads, arms and legs have been burned off.

One body was that of an infant, with the head consumed.

On another body, the clothing of which was partly consumed, cards bearing the name "A. A. Allan & Co., 11 Bay Street, Toronto," was found. Among the dead identified are:

Mrs. C. W. VAN DYKE, Sprout Brook, N. Y., E. WINTZ, The latter was recognized by a handkerchief found on the remains.

IT LOOKS BAD.

Now Ex-Sheriff Dosebach Regained His Liberty.

Order of the St. Charles County Court for His Benefit.

His crime converted into a misdemeanor through influence.

His Attorney, Oscar Mudd, Secured the Release of the County Court Order That All Prisoners in the County Jail Shall Be Hired Out.

The law-respecting citizens of St. Charles County were wrought up over the case of their county sheriff, who was ordered to be released by the county court. The order was given by the county court, which is a body of men who are supposed to be law-abiding. The order was given by the county court, which is a body of men who are supposed to be law-abiding. The order was given by the county court, which is a body of men who are supposed to be law-abiding.

After sentence of the Circuit Court had been passed upon the ex-sheriff for manslaughter, Attorney Oscar Mudd, who was counsel for Dosebach, began devising ways and means to prevent his client from serving out the jail sentence. He made it a personal matter with the county judges, Messrs. Roberts, Wolfe and Smith, who are the only judges in the county. He made it a personal matter with the county judges, Messrs. Roberts, Wolfe and Smith, who are the only judges in the county.

Under the most peculiar ruling ever perpetrated by a court of justice Sheriff Dosebach was released from the county jail. The ruling was made by the county court, which is a body of men who are supposed to be law-abiding. The ruling was made by the county court, which is a body of men who are supposed to be law-abiding. The ruling was made by the county court, which is a body of men who are supposed to be law-abiding.

What Oscar Mudd Does. Attorney Oscar Mudd, who has an office in this city, when seen this morning, said: "I am not concerned about the property of the order issued by the St. Charles judges. I was paid attorney for Mr. Dosebach who was in jail and wanted to get out. In my client's interests I asked the judges for the order and got it. I was paid attorney for Mr. Dosebach who was in jail and wanted to get out. In my client's interests I asked the judges for the order and got it."

In DE GRAVES DEAD! The Denver Story Not Credited in Providence-Bureau of the Case.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 10. The story telegraphed from Denver that Dr. Graves is alive and that the case which was supposed to contain his body was filled with wood has been refuted here for several days. It is not given credence. Dr. Graves and his victim, Mrs. Barabaz, having been so well known here, the story has created a great deal of comment.

When the cash was received at West Thompson, Conn., after having been shipped from Denver, it was placed in a vault, where it remained until Tuesday. It was then taken out and placed in the cemetery. It was then taken out and placed in the cemetery. It was then taken out and placed in the cemetery.

MAKE LIGHT OF IT. Denver, Colo., Oct. 10. The authorities here make light of the story that they were imposed upon and permitted Dr. Graves to escape, and shipped instead of the doctor's dead body a coffin, with a few dollars in it, to a funeral home in Connecticut. They say the body was in a badly decomposed state when it was sent East.

MEETING TO PROTEST.

Local Merchants Favor Holding One to Censure the Senate.

The merchants, who are more directly the sufferers from senatorial delay on the silver repeal legislation, are agitating a mass-meeting to consider the proposed and memorialize the Senate on the prolongation of business distress consequent on further postponing a vote on the pending bill. A reporter of the Post-Dispatch this morning interviewed a few merchants on the subject.

Mr. Jonathan Rice of Rice, Stitz & Co., who asked if a mass-meeting was to be held and if the date for it was fixed, said: "Such a movement is in contemplation, but it will be better not to say much about it until our plans are perfected. It is necessary and right to hold it. But anything I could say would be premature. We want this question settled and eliminated from our politics. It is not a matter of wonder that Senator Blair and some of the mining States Senators should want delay, but West and Ockers are no legitimate excuse for assisting in causing this trouble to the commercial houses of the country."

Mr. J. Crawford of J. Crawford & Co. said: "I have not heard of a mass-meeting being set for any particular date yet, but in case one is held, I will be present. I think the question is going to be settled. It is not a matter of wonder that Senator Blair and some of the mining States Senators should want delay, but West and Ockers are no legitimate excuse for assisting in causing this trouble to the commercial houses of the country."

Mr. Dan Nugent of B. Nugent & Bro. said: "I know nothing more of the mass-meeting than I have seen in the newspapers. I do not know whether it will be held or not. I am not a merchant, but I am a citizen. I am not a merchant, but I am a citizen. I am not a merchant, but I am a citizen."

BENJAMIN'S FAILURE

Judgments Entered Against a Coal Operator for $90,000.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 10. Judgments have been entered in the Circuit Court against H. Benjamin, a large coal operator of Milwaukee, amounting to $90,000. The judgments are in favor of the Merchants' Exchange Bank of Milwaukee for $50,000, Albert Giffels of Milwaukee for $20,000, and E. P. Hackett of Milwaukee for $20,000. The judgments were secured several months ago on confession of Benjamin, who failed at about that time, but were never satisfied. They have now been brought to Chicago to get rid of property which Benjamin owned at Forty-fourth Street and Michigan Avenue. Want of plea was the ground on which Judge Quinlan entered the judgments.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS.

Conclusion of an Important Session—To-Day's Business.

All of the important business of the Scottish Rite Masons was concluded yesterday's meeting, though the council met again to-day to hear the reports of several committees that were not completed in time to be passed on yesterday. It was thought that all of the business necessitating the stay of the council here as a body would be completed by 8 p. m., the time set for adjournment. They have already been detained from their business longer than they expected to be, so that most of the distinguished visitors will be compelled to leave the city as soon as possible after the business of the council is terminated. Three of them—S. E. Adams of Minneapolis, A. B. Chapman of St. Louis, and J. H. Walker of St. Louis, were called away last night. The rest will remain here through to-day, and some will remain here to-morrow.

Grand Commander Tucker, who has been unwell for several days, was somewhat improved this morning and was in the chair in time to rap the meeting to order at the appointed time.

Yesterday's meeting was so crowded with other business that no time was left for conducting the degree of the members who were the day before elected to a higher rank. That ceremony was postponed last night at the request of the members of the council. For three hours yesterday afternoon the visitors were driven through as many of the city's most interesting points as time permitted. The city was visited by the city's most interesting points as time permitted. The city was visited by the city's most interesting points as time permitted.

An Outcast Dog's Gratitude.
 A 10-year-old little girl had fallen into the river that day (July 26) from the parapet of Pontre Margherite. The crowd who witnessed the accident never ran higher and come one to help the child—nobody daring to do so. Two policemen spent the time in being inquired as to whether "it was a case of murder or suicide." The child meant to die, was told the doctors. "What a poor, wretched, miserable dog, destined to end a stretched day in the staid and municipal dog's yard," leaped barking into the street, and this dog, screaming his protest at the crowd, "the poor beast," he said, "saw on street—only to sleep in any old place, and even out to the little girl, poor, casual, her dress and shoes so worn, and her hair so long and black, and her eyes so dim and so far away."

friend's face and hands. It appears they had a friendless child. The child had known the dog many years. The dog had been with the family animal was grateful to her for some time of distress. The crowd then tried to catch the dog, to see how an animal could be so brave. The dog was made. The dog was through their midst and she appeared.

Students arrived at 11:30. The English sectional classes, who head the list at the adult males, attain the high average of feet 9.14 inches. Next are the American males of the United States, a minute fraction behind them come the Irish of all classes. Hence we may conclude that, taken right through, the English, American and Irish are the tallest of the race here. Most European nations range for the adult males 5 feet 10 inches, the Austrians, Spaniards and Portuguese fall short of this standard. (LIFE, 1916)

After Destroying Wreck.

New York, Oct. 20.—The United States dynamite cruiser Yonkers returned to this port yesterday, after a cruise along the coast in search of derelicts. The cruiser destroyed with gun cotton torpedoes a number of wrecked vessels found floating off the New Jersey and Delaware coasts. She will remain in port, it is understood, until ordered to attend on the trials of the triple screw cruiser Columbia.

An alarm of fire was sent in from Minnesota avenue and Kansas street last night. This is the box in front of St. Joseph's Convent, and it was at first feared by the police that the convent was on fire. All the windows of the district were hurried to the scene to aid in saving life if necessary. The fire proved to be a small blaze in a dwelling opposite the convent.

A Passenger Recovers Damages for a Wait in the Rain.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 20.—One of the most interesting cases in the Circuit Court, which has just adjourned, was that of Mrs. Cora L. Mattison vs. the Illinois Central Railroad, against the Illinois Central Railroad for $3,000 damages because the company failed to carry her over its road and connecting roads as stipulated. The case was given to the jury shortly before noon, and that body returned into court between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, assessing the damages at $400.
The history of the case is as follows: Mrs. Mattison was in this city last summer, accompanied by her two children. Aug. 24 she purchased a ticket here which was to carry her from Champaign to Fort Worth, Tex., the ticket agent representing to her that it would secure her one continuous and unbroken passage. The agent also stated that she would have to take an Iron Mountain sleeper at St. Louis, which she did. About midnight the conductor of the Iron Mountain train awoke her and she presented her common ticket, whereupon he informed her that she was on the wrong train and made her get off at a small station at 2 o'clock in the morning. It was raining hard at the time and she had to wait four hours for another train.
